AW ROSTAMANI IS A
CONGLOMERATE OF
14 COMPANIES IN DIVERSE
DISCIPLINES.

Our Story

The story of AW Rostamani began in 1954 when Abdul Wahid and his brother, two sons of a local pearl trader, took the decision to set up a family business on the shore of the Dubai Creek. Inspired by their passion for reading, the brothers opened a library. They called it 'Al Ahliya Library', Dubai's first bookshop, importing much sought after books from Egypt, Syria, and Lebanon by Gulf Air through Bahrain.

Over the years, the enterprising Rostamani brothers developed a healthy pipeline of emerging partnership opportunities across all areas of business.

Today, the AW Rostamani Group is a conglomerate of 14 companies in diverse disciplines, committed to enriching lives through exceptional products and services.

A Regional Powerhouse

The AW Rostamani Group is a multi-billion dollar UAE family business with wholly owned and partnership interests spanning a broad assets spectrum of commerce and industry and is considered one of the most robust conglomerates in the Middle East.

The Group enjoys a global reach and influence through strategic partnerships with a growing number of highly respected international brand principals. As a result of its acknowledged business integrity and blue-chip reputation, AW Rostamani has a healthy pipeline of emerging partnership opportunities across all areas of its business portfolio.

Collectively, the Group's subsidiaries and divisions have longstanding research, development and procurement agreements with more than 1,200 support companies and suppliers around the world.

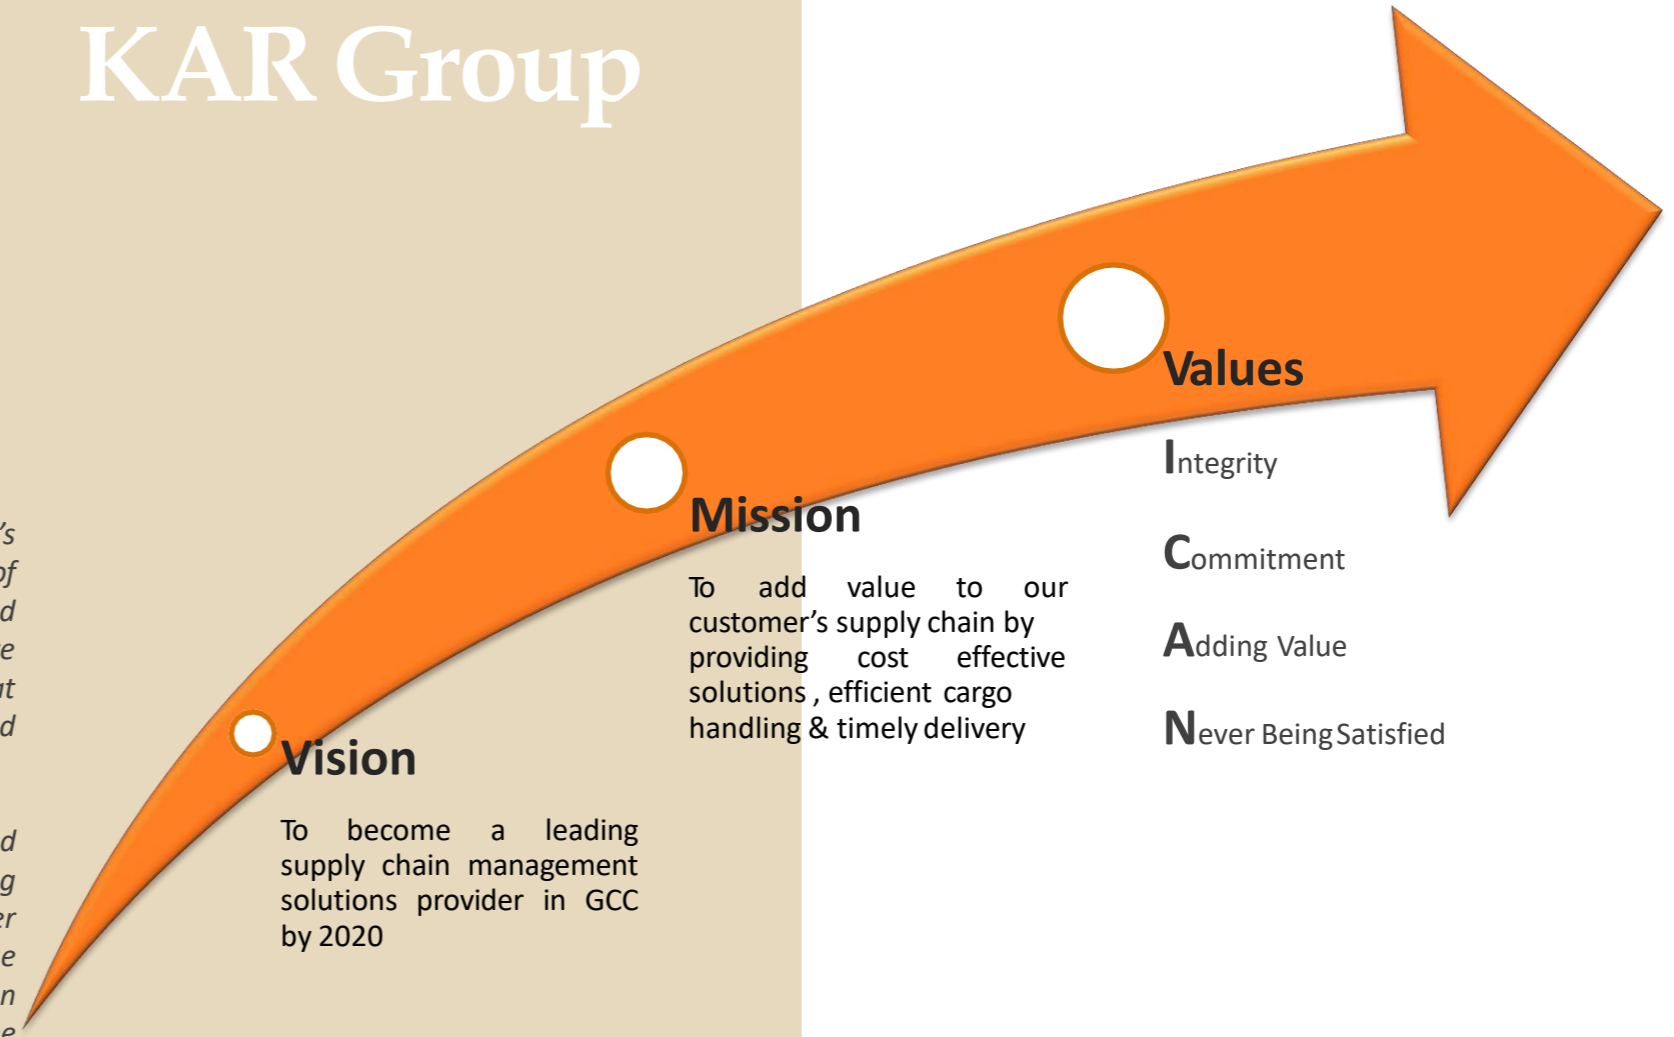

Khalid Al Rostamani, Chairman
